

Pre-Arrival Task

Understanding Colour

Colour is an integral part of the design and creative process. They can have certain meanings and associations that can bring significance to a final garment. To develop understanding of colour and its application, we would like you to look at colour and where it has been used.

Pick a colour; this could be your favourite colour or one selected at random, and photograph everything in the same colour as your selection. This could be post boxes, door handles, houses, nature, posters, animals, ceilings, objects, paintings...anything! If the images in magazines or flyers happen to be the same colour, please bring those with you as well.

Try and take at least 10 photographs of items of the same colour and bring them with you on your first day of induction week.

Please also bring stationary, art materials, scissors, tape/glue with you.
