6	Course Description
	We recognise the importance of who, where and when; through practice-led enquiry you will be able to reveal the nuances of your own professional practice to enhance your understanding of what you do and why you do it. This will help future-proof your career, enhancing your confidence to lead teams of colleagues. What's covered in the course? The really attractive aspect of this course is that it frees you up to gain a further qualification without giving up your job - that's because our course is delivered wholly online on a part-time basis using a blend of synchronous and asynchronous sessions. Much of the study time can be undertaken when it best suits you but you can access the expertise of our highly experienced tutors on a regular basis. This practice-based course is designed to support your professional learning and development as a practitioner in education. We only deliver this course online to groups of pre-service and in-service teachers who work in a variety of educational settings. Since this course is centred on your professional practice, you'll enjoy the flexibility to choose the areas of research and study on which you wish to concentrate as you move through your career. The emphasis on contemporary online learning provides opportunities for a blended delivery format. Our staff will support and guide you through the clear and concise modular framework that will enhance your understanding and application of practice-led research methodologies. You'll be involved in action research and textual analysis of policy documents and there is a strong emphasis on practice-led enquiry. The course supports continuing professional development rooted in a concept of partnership. This partnership is centred on professional respect and promotes learning at all levels. We value collaboration in the development of educators, to maximise your impact on the individuals' organisations and communities within which you work.

	Through developing you as an educational practitioner focused on learning and teaching, our Master of Learning and Teaching will enable you to activate change and successfully meet new challenges and opportunities in your professional career. You'll build on your previous work and be able to take increasing responsibility for your own development within a wider professional community. This online course provides access to e-resources, such as online eBooks and journals, and our virtual learning environment (Moodle). You will still have access to our campus facilities, including the Education Collection in the Mary Seacole Library at our City South Campus in Edgbaston. Please note that completion of this course does not lead to Qualified Teacher Status (QTS).

14	Course Learning, Teaching and Assessment Strategy
	The School of Education and Social Work's vision of what constitutes high quality learning and teaching is informed by the University's guiding principles for Learning, Teaching and Assessment. These guiding principles include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the pursuit of excellence by our students and by our staff;</li> <li>• a professional, practice-led, knowledge-applied experience for students;</li> <li>• maximising inter-professional and inter-disciplinary working;</li> <li>• an employability-driven and internationalised curriculum; and</li> <li>• increasingly inclusive approaches to learning and teaching.</li> </ul> Learning and teaching <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The School of Education and Social Work expects that all teaching and learning experiences should be part of a constructively aligned curriculum in which there is a clear</li> </ul> and direct link between the intended learning outcomes, the teaching methods and materials utilised and the summative assessment.

- Teaching and learning will be research-informed.
- Learning should be an active rather than passive experience. An active approach to learning should be encouraged through group work, focussed practical tasks, live projects, problem-based learning, discussion and feedback. Students are encouraged to contribute to the community of learners.
- The learning and teaching experience will place the student at the core and deliver an approach that recognises the diversity and strengths of those individuals through formative learning opportunities and personal support.
- Learning outcomes and associated assessment design should be the focus of the planned student experience. The delivery pattern, size and shape of modules supports that focus, and does not constrain or define it.

Assessment and feedback

- Decisions about assessment design are based on up to date, accurate knowledge of sector requirements (including relevant PSRB requirements) and common HE norms.
- Assessment will be based on clearly defined learning outcomes. No student should be assessed against a learning outcome that is not taught as part of the course.
- Assessment design starts from the principle of 'inclusivity and success for all', with an aim of reducing the need for reasonable adjustments.
- Assessment design incorporates some level of choice for students in terms of assessment methods.

Opportunities for students to receive, and be taught to understand the value of, feedback focussed on improving future performance is built into the assessment design.

- An emphasis on formative feedback will enable students to recognise how to apply key messages to future learning, supporting ipsative assessment (improving on personal best).
- Assessment, marking and feedback are viewed as vitally important learning and teaching activities within course delivery.

Specifically, the Master of Learning and Teaching is delivered through an online platform, supplemented and enhanced by:

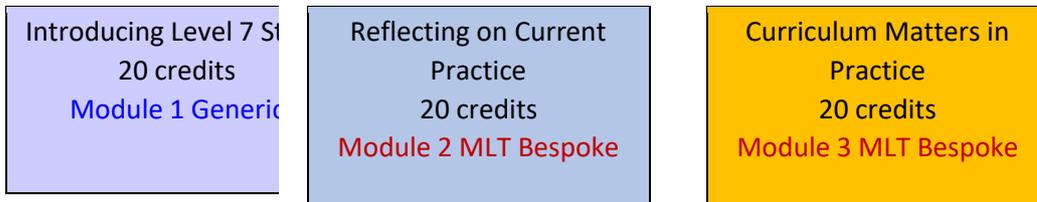

- Flipped learning using online recorded lectures and online activities;
- Blended learning using real-time, online seminars and tutorials;
- Supported e-learning by a designated Personal Tutor;
- Collegiate support groups;
- Independent application of research and enquiry;
- Critically reflexive reading and writing;
- Critical academic enquiry.

16	Overall Student Workload and Balance of Assessment
-----------	---

Overall student workload consists of class contact hours, independent learning and assessment activity, with each credit taken equating to a total study time of around 10 hours. While actual contact hours may depend on the optional modules selected, the following information gives an indication of how much time students will need to allocate to different activities at each level of the course.

- Scheduled Learning includes lectures, practical classes and workshops, contact time specified in timetable
- Directed Learning includes placements, work-based learning, external visits, on-line activity, Graduate+, peer learning
- Private Study includes preparation for exams

The balance of assessment by mode of assessment (e.g. coursework, exam and in-person) depends to some extent on the optional modules chosen by students. The approximate percentage of the course assessed by coursework, exam and in-person is shown below.
