Variations from the Academic Regulations: Undergraduate and Integrated Masters – 2026/27 Academic Year

All undergraduate courses within the University are subject to the rules set out within the Academic Regulations: Undergraduate and Integrated Masters. There are some courses, however, that have been granted a 'variation' to these standard regulations in order to adhere to Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Body requirements or to meet sector expectations.

A variation is essentially an approved change to the standard regulations for a particular course.

All courses with an approved variation to the Academic Regulations: Undergraduate and Integrated Masters are detailed in this document and are organised by School. If you have any queries regarding an approved variation, please contact your course team in the first instance.

US1578	BSc (Hons) Learning Disabilities Nursing	Students who have failed their placement twice during Level 4 will not have the right to repeat level 4
		Students may be permitted to transfer between courses after the Monday of week 4 of semester one, where this transfer is to another field of nursing. This is only possible if the student is successful at interview with the relevant field and deemed suitable.
		Due to limited placement capacity, where students are repeating a stage of study and have previously passed the placement (or placement module) they will not repeat the placement or its assessment when repeating the stage. The original mark(s) will stand and will be combined with any marks achieved during the remainder of the repeat stage to calculate the overall stage mean.
		Where a student has failed a practice assessment in placement any offer of a repeat of the stage will be contingent on the availability of a placement and will take place at the next available opportunity, which will not necessarily be in the following academic year.
		Where placement capacity issues have been identified, students are permitted to trail the 40-credit placement module to the next level of study, in addition to the standard allowance to trail one module into the next level.
		Within the professional practice (placement) modules, the opportunity to apply for an extension, deferral or exceptional circumstance request is not available in relation to the statutory and mandatory requirements assessment.
